TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Certified that Mr Niladri Chatterjee has been awarded the ASAEH-Richard Grove Prize 2008 for the best essay on environmental history submitted in this competition. The Graduate students from all over India participated in this competition. Mr Chatterjee's essay was titled REVISITING THE CHIPKO MOVEMENT and it was adjudicated by 3 anonymous referees. He was awarded the cash prize of Rs 5,000 at a function held in Jadavpur University campus in early March 2008. The funding for this year came from a generous grant from Professor Lawrence Gunderson, one of the EC members and the Treasurer of the ASAEH. This email may kindly be accepted as the official notification of the award.

I sign this email on behalf of the Association and in my official position as the Secretary of the Association of South Asian Environmental Historians.
